This weekend we celebrate the Feast of The Body and Blood of Christ. It is an important feast because it sets us apart from every other Christian denomination. Only Catholics believe in the True Presence in the Eucharist. Other Christian traditions believe that the wine and the bread "represent" the body and blood of Christ. A few Christian churches believe in "consubstantiation" which means that the bread and wine become Jesus for a short time. I challenge each of you to ponder and reflect on just what transubstantiation means. It is not just "hocus-pocus" that we see at Mass, it is the REAL thing. Think back to your own First Communion and how awed you were as you walked up the aisle (or in the old days, knelt at the altar rail) to receive Jesus for the first time. It is REAL. Do you believe?
